How Should We Interpret the Recent French Floods—Weather Warfare or Climate Crisis?

Sixbert SANGWA • February 02, 2025

In our previous discussion on weather and climate manipulation, we explored the historical context and technological advancements that have led to speculations about deliberate environmental interventions. Considering the European coverage in articles and podcasts, we have consistently worked to expose the Luciferian agenda scheduled to unfold beginning in 2025, particularly emphasizing the plans align with Biblical prophecies—serving as a wake-up call to the Church that the Rapture draws near. The timing of these events becomes particularly significant as they align with our early warnings about increasing environmental manipulation. Building upon that foundation, recent catastrophic floods in France have reignited debates about the potential for clandestine groups, notably the Illuminati, to employ weather warfare as a means to destabilize nations and further a global agenda.

The Illuminati and the New World Order: A Brief Overview

The Illuminati, a key player in a vast network of secret societies including the Freemasons, Rosicrucians, Knights Templar, and others, operates under the ultimate authority of Lucifer. These interconnected organizations work in coordinated effort toward establishing a centralized global government—commonly known as the New World Order or the Reign of the Antichrist in Christian eschatology. This dark coalition seeks to undermine national sovereignties through various means, including economic manipulation, political influence, and, as evidence suggests, environmental control. Their unified agenda, guided by their dark master, represents a concentrated effort to reshape global power structures according to their occult vision.

Since their founding by Prof. Adam Weishaupt on May 1, 1776 (now celebrated as International Labor Day), these groups have worked covertly to shape global trends and advance their agenda. From dismantling monarchies to gaining influence over major nations and establishing a global pilot government (UN), they have operated behind the scenes to create systems for their desired world order that stands in opposition to God. With their timeline apparently culminating in 2025, their activities have become increasingly visible. These Instagram posts provide evidence of these developments (LiveSymbolik, 2025a, 2025b). They also encourage their followers to interpret signs and trust initiation (Symolik-2025) as their actions are part of a foreshadowing plan (Symbolik_2024), yet few seem to notice what is truly unfolding.

Weather Warfare: Historical Context and Technological Possibilities

The concept of weather warfare involves the deliberate manipulation of weather patterns to achieve military or strategic objectives. Historically, the U.S. military's "Operation Popeye" during the Vietnam War is a notable example, where cloud seeding was employed to extend the monsoon season over the Ho Chi Minh Trail, aiming to disrupt enemy supply lines (Cynda_1992; Wikipedia). This operation demonstrated the potential of weather modification as a tactical tool. North Dakota provides another example, having used cloud seeding for decades to help farmers by modifying weather patterns. The state uses airplanes to release silver iodide into clouds, which reduces hail size and increases rainfall (Associated Press,2025). Unsurprisingly, major nations like China have been heavily invested in weather modification (The Guardian, 2025)—and this represents only their publicly disclosed efforts.

In contemporary times, cloud seeding remains a prevalent method of weather modification. There is growing awareness, particularly in developed nations, of the ability to induce rainfall and potentially cause floods through such techniques. While proponents claim these practices benefit agriculture through increased precipitation, critics argue that cloud seeding is ineffective, potentially harmful, and represents government overreach in controlling natural weather patterns (Financial Express, 2024). Beyond the stated agricultural benefits, there are concerns that weather modification technologies have been weaponized as tools for global control. China, for example, has announced plans to expand its weather modification program to cover an area more than one and a half times the size of India by 2025 (The Guardian, 2025). This rapid expansion has raised concerns among neighboring countries, particularly India, about the potential geopolitical implications (JRF,2024).

While these weather manipulation capabilities are now being openly discussed, evidence suggests these technologies have been secretly deployed for decades as part of a coordinated agenda. The ability to manipulate weather on such a massive scale serves multiple purposes - from controlling agricultural productivity and water resources to manufacturing natural disasters that can destabilize targeted nations. Though they publicly present cloud seeding as a benign tool for enhancing precipitation, its true applications within their arsenal of weather warfare remain carefully hidden. The synchronized timing and strategic deployment of these technologies across different regions reveals the orchestrated nature of their activities, all ultimately coordinated by their dark master in service of their apocalyptic agenda. While experts may debate the official narrative around cloud seeding's role in flooding, this merely provides cover for more sinister applications of these technologies.

The 2025 Year of the Snake and Esoteric Predictions

The year 2025, which coincides with the Chinese zodiac Year of the Wood Snake, has been particularly targeted by globalists as a period believed to represent the closure of old chapters and the beginning of new ones, emphasizing strategic planning and introspection. From World War III to widespread weather warfare disasters and engineered diseases, these tools are intended to be used as weapons to achieve total control in their new Luciferian world order (Willem, 2010; Eric, 2024).

Esoteric author Alice Bailey, the mother of New Age and Illuminati member, made significant predictions concerning the year 2025, envisioning it as a pivotal point for humanity's "spiritual awakening." She predicted that by this year, the "spiritual hierarchy" would "externalize" to guide humanity - a deeply veiled reference to what Christians recognize as the exceptional deceptions brought by intensive demonic activity in the end times. She suggested humanity must recognize its supposed "divine nature" to avoid a downfall reminiscent of Atlantis (Symbolik_2023). This prophecy aligns with themes of transformation and renewal associated with the Year of the Snake, further revealing the occult nature of these predictions.

Analyzing the Recent Floods in France

Following the devastating fires in California (USA) in January 2025, which marked a clear pattern of orchestrated environmental manipulation, France has experienced catastrophic floods during late January 2025 causing unprecedented property damage and loss of life (RTL,2025). Notably, both the United States and France share a profound historical connection to the Illuminati's agenda - the USA being the first nation taken through the American Revolution in 1776, followed by France's French Revolution in 1789. These two nations, having been the first to fall under secret societies' influence, are now experiencing what appears to be just the beginning of coordinated environmental attacks - a harbinger of the coming global catastrophes that will usher in their long-planned new world order. These floods, described as "once in a century" event (Franco24, 2025), raise several questions: Why do these events intensify specifically as we enter 2025? Is there significance to this timing aligning with predictions from various esoteric sources? Could these abnormal floods prompt us to question whether geoengineering and weather manipulation are at play, or should we simply attribute them to the climate change crisis? Could these events be orchestrated, as Bitch (2025) suggests, to coincide with other global developments predicted for 2025?

While mainstream media and official sources attribute these disasters to climate change (The Watchers, 2025), it's crucial to critically evaluate how media shapes our understanding of these events. The way information is presented can significantly influence public perception, making it essential to examine multiple sources and perspectives. While some official sources have dismissed claims about weather modification technologies (especially Facts_2025), the pattern and timing of these disasters warrant further analysis. As consumers of information, we must consider not only what is being reported but also how and why certain narratives are emphasized over others. The critical question extends beyond the timing of these events in 2025 to encompass how media coverage influences our interpretation of these occurrences.

The concept of predictive programming suggests that media can foreshadow and potentially condition public perception of future events. This theory gains particular relevance when examining French media, specifically the 2006 TV movie "Paris 2011 La grande inondation", which eerily depicted a catastrophic Seine River flood overwhelming Paris's landmark. Similarly, "The Flood" (2024), while primarily focusing on Louis XVI's era, uses flooding imagery as a metaphor for societal upheaval in France. Such productions, along with climate change documentaries like "Before the Flood" featuring Leonardo DiCaprio, create a complex narrative web around flooding events. While these works ostensibly aim to raise environmental awareness, some interpret them as evidence of foreknowledge or orchestrated planning by powerful groups.

A broader analysis reveals a pattern of symbolic events that appear strategically orchestrated. The 2019 burning of Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris marked a significant turning point, particularly given the subsequent renovation that allegedly incorporated Masonic symbols—and some interpret as ritualistic destruction of traditional Christianity to make way for a new religious paradigm (Bachal,2024; WatersAbove, 2024). The 2024 Summer Olympics in Paris took this symbolic progression to new heights, featuring an unprecedented opening ceremony that many interpreted as foreshadowing the rise of the Antichrist (Sangwa, 2024a, 2024b). Breaking with tradition, the ceremony was held outside a stadium, with boats navigating the Seine River - the same waterway that would later experience devastating floods. The ceremony's imagery was rich with occult symbolism, including pyramid formations, all-seeing eye motifs, and ritualistic performances that seemed to herald the coming of a global leader. These elements led many observers to view it as a ceremonial preparation for the Antichrist's emergence (ISC, 2024; Vandt, 2024; Joe, 2024).

This period also saw several other significant events: The Red Sea crisis with Houthi attacks escalated into 2024, leading to military responses from Western powers (Commonsitrary, 2025) - an event some interpret as having apocalyptic significance. The Jerusalem Temple Institute (2025) announced their readiness to resume temple sacrifices, potentially preparing for the Third Temple. Historical precedent shows how floods have been weaponized, as documented in the Netherlands when the Germans deliberately caused nine-third of floods over 500 years for military purposes (EGU, 2024). A similar mysterious mass animal death recently occurred globally, including bird migrations disruptions and fish die-offs (The Guardian, 2024; Actual America, 2024), while a significant solar eclipse across North America in December 2024 sparked widespread prophetic interpretations, and NASA faced criticism over alleged satanic rituals (Times of Israel, 2024).

Additionally, Pope Francis's controversial decision to open five holy doors, including one in a prison, for the 2025 Jubilee year - an act viewed by some as having occult significance (Reuters,2024). The sequence continued with the devastating California fires and the recent US-France Louvre incident, where some researchers interpret as ritual sacrifices. These events, when viewed collectively rather than in isolation, suggest a calculated progression of occult symbolism and strategic destabilization, potentially setting the stage for larger apocalyptic events. The timing and nature of these incidents, particularly their connection to France and religious symbolism, warrant careful consideration within the broader context of end-times prophecy.

The Book of Revelation and Symbolic Floods

The first trumpet in Revelation 8:7 states: "The first angel sounded his trumpet, and there came hail and fire mixed with blood, and it was hurled down on the earth. A third of the earth was burned up, a third of the trees were burned up, and all the green grass was burned up." This description aligns remarkably with current global weather phenomena, particularly the unprecedented combination of extreme flooding and devastating fires we're witnessing. The timing of these events, coinciding with the Illuminati's 2025 agenda, suggests we are indeed witnessing the manifestation of this prophetic timeline. Just as the first trumpet describes a combination of hail (representing severe weather events like floods) and fire, we're seeing precisely this pattern globally - from the floods in France to the fires in California. This correlation between Biblical prophecy and current events, especially when viewed alongside the Illuminati's known weather manipulation capabilities, strongly indicates we are experiencing the early stages of the trumpet judgments.

Concluding reflections

The evidence presented throughout this article raises serious questions about the relationship between recent weather events and potential technological manipulation. As 1 Thessalonians 5:17 reminds us to "pray constantly," we must first and foremost pray for our brothers and sisters in France and other affected regions who are experiencing these catastrophes. While the enemy may use these events as attacks against God's people, we know that our suffering is temporary, for Christ's return is imminent (James 5:8). How prepared are we spiritually for the challenges that may be ahead? What signs should we be watching for in our daily lives that might indicate the approaching Rapture? The documented history of weather modification programs, when viewed alongside the Luciferian agenda of secret societies, aligns disturbingly well with Biblical prophecies about the end times - suggesting these groups are unknowingly fulfilling God's prophetic timeline even as they pursue their dark agenda (Romans 8:28). These parallels deserve our careful and prayerful consideration.

In these uncertain times, we might wonder: Are we truly living as though Christ could return at any moment? As Matthew 24:42 exhorts us, "Therefore be alert, since you don't know what day your Lord is coming." How can we better align our daily activities with our spiritual preparedness? As we witness the increasing frequency of unusual weather events and global upheavals, we should consider: What message might God be conveying to His church through these events (Luke 21:25-28)? How can we help our families and communities understand the spiritual significance of current world events while maintaining a balanced Biblical perspective? Most importantly, how can we support and encourage those who are suffering through these trials, reminding them that their present afflictions are achieving an eternal glory that far outweighs them all (2 Corinthians 4:17)?

As believers navigating these complex times, we must remain vigilant and discerning, while extending compassion and support to those affected by these events. Have we fully surrendered our fears and concerns about the future to God (1 Peter 5:7)? Are we actively sharing the Gospel with those around us, knowing time might be short (Mark 16:15)? The convergence of technological capabilities, occult agendas, and Biblical prophecies calls us not only to deeper spiritual awareness but also to action and fervent prayer for those suffering. How are we using our remaining time to serve God's kingdom? What practical steps can we take today to strengthen our faith, prepare our hearts for Christ's return, and support our brothers and sisters who are enduring these trials? Let us remember that these difficulties are temporary, for our Lord Jesus Christ stands at the door, ready to return for His church (Revelation 3:20).
